TYNDENAGA RESERVE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The weather was so unpropitious on Sunday last that it was deemed expedient to postpone the Missionary meetings of the parish to a future date. We believe that more successful meetings would be held in the early autumn—weather better and money more plentiful.

The entertainment of the Christ Church Young People's Association, held on Tuesday evening at the parsonage, was a success in every sense of the word.

Money must be very scarce, as a St. George street merchant could not afford to buy a 15c. ticket to assist a good cause.

The regular monthly meeting of the Irish Rights Association was held on Tuesday last with a very full attendance of members.

The Rev. F. T. Dibb, M.D., officiated in the churches of the Reserve on Sunday next, Feb. 5th.

BETHEL.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Our old friend, Albert Wenden, Esq., is in quite poor health.

Miss Minnie Gardner, we are sorry to hear, is quite sick. Dr. Cryan has charge of the case and we hope to hear of her speedy recovery.

Mr. O. Osborne, of New York, was a guest at Mr. Gardner's over Sunday.

Miss Lillie Weldon, of Mariposa, is visiting friends here.

Miss Clara Crawford spent a few days with her friend, Miss Edna Smith, of Deseronto, last week.

Mr. R. J. Sprague, of Picton, is visiting her friends here.

Mr. & Mrs. John Crawford are attending court, as witnesses, in Belleville, this week.

Our January term came along on Sunday evening, 29th inst., for the purpose of settling up the accounts of the year.

It rained hard all the forenoon but cleared in the afternoon, to the sorrow of those whose sisters were dry.

Mr. Sam. Gardner was in Belleville on Tuesday.

Mrs. White has returned from her visit to Foxboro.

Cures Others

"Will cure you," is a true statement of the action of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, when taken for diseases originating in impure blood; but, while this assertion is true of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, as thousands can attest, it cannot be truthfully applied to other preparations, which unprincipled dealers will recommend, and try to impose upon you, as "just as good as Ayer's." Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's only, if you need a permanent cure. This medicine, for nearly fifty years, has enjoyed a reputation, and made a record for cures, that has never been equalled by other preparations. AYER'S Sarsaparilla eradicates the taint of hereditary scrofula and other blood diseases from the system and it has, deservedly, the confidence of the people.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I cannot forbear to express my joy at the relief I have obtained from the use of AYER'S Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with kidney troubles for about six months, suffering greatly with pain in the small of my back. In addition to this, my body was covered with pimples and disordered. The remedies prescribed failed to help me. I then began to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and, in a short time, the pains ceased and the pimples disappeared. I advise every young man or woman, in case of sickness resulting from impure blood, no matter how long standing the case may be, to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla."—H. L. J. Mann, 33 William st., New York City.

Owing to the unfavorable weather which prevailed last Sunday, the missionary meetings to be held at the churches in Tyndalanga reserve were necessarily postponed to a latter date of which due notice will be given.

Mr. Francis Nathan, after visiting many parts of the United States, has settled down permanently in Denver, Colorado, and orders THE TRIBUNE to be sent to that address as he wishes to keep posted in Deseronto events.

The new Anglican diocese of Ottawa will be composed of the eight most easterly counties of Ontario, and will have jurisdiction over seventy-six clergymen, leaving only fifty-nine for the old diocese, which however contains nearly all the rectories.

The new engine, and a boiler for another, will be completed next week at the locomotive works Kingston, for the B. & Q. Railway. Since the road became connected with Kingston about $20,000 has been spent in that city in building and repairing engines and rolling stock.

The great business advantage of good sleighing has been illustrated in Minnesota, where a load of logs about sixty-five miles and weighing 100 tons was recently hauled a mile on runners by four horses. The chains used for binding the load weighed five tons and the logs scaled 31,480 feet.

The treasury department of the United States has refunded the duties paid by the Lake Ontario fish company on fresh fish caught by them in Canadian waters, thus settling the point that a company has the same right as an individual in catching fish and importing them into the United States.

Hon. James Gillespie Blaine, late secretary of state of the United States, died January 27th, aged 63 years. He was born at Indian Hill Farm, Pennsylvania. He taught school for some time and then entered journalism. In 1858 he entered the Maine legislature, in 1862 went to congress, and in 1869 was speaker. He became a senator in 1877. Was an unsuccessful candidate for the presidency in 1884.

A revolution has taken place in Hawaii. The queen has been deposed and a provisional government has been formed. There is some talk of annexing the country to the United States. Hawaii consists of fifteen islands in the North Pacific, the only eight of which are inhabited. They are about 2,100 miles from San Francisco. The area is 6,640 square miles and population 80,000. Nine-tenths of the trade of the islands is with the United States. Honolulu, the capital, has a population of 20,000.

Major-general Herbert, in his annual report, criticizes the administration of the militia in severe terms. He states that the different corps are equipped with the very poorest material, that there is little or no discipline, and that the force is ineffective. The greater portion of the military supplies are worse than useless. This is a bad state of affairs which has been long known to have existed. Any visitor to a militia camp in the summer season will see that the general report is correct in every particular. The whole militia system of Canada is an expensive fraud.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

The County Council of Hastings met at Belleville, Tuesday, Jan. 25th, with a full attendance of members. Mr. Frank Thompson, of Elizabethtown, was unanimously elected Mayor, and the council adjourned until Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday morning a large number of communications were read and several members gave notice of by-laws to be introduced. On motion of Mr. Vermylia, seconded by Dr. Faulkner, the council decided itself to restrict the expenditures under its control so that the rate should be increased beyond the preceding year but it possible reduced. The motion was adopted. Henry Closs, Havelock, Muller, Chas. Kingston, Tivy, Holton, McAlpine, Holgate and Vermylia were appointed a committee to make such recommendations as they may deem wise upon other than county gravel roads and bridges this year.

On motion of Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. Vermylia, $25 was granted each year for the teacher's institute. On motion of Mr. Aylworth, seconded by Mr. Hargrett, the petition from the county of Elgin asking for an amendment of the railway act which would render it compulsory for railways to make provision for fire-works on natural water courses wherever required, was ordered to be properly signed and to be delivered to the government through W. P. Hudson, M. P. A petition from the Dominion Alliance asking that the Ontario government would give the people of the province an opportunity of voting on the prohibition question was also ordered to be signed. The committee appointed to interview the city council of Belleville in regard to the proposed city hall was ordered to be more moderate in its demands and to keep within the statute. On motion duly made the county clerk, Mr. McCarver, a committee consisting of Messrs. Holgate, Farley, Vermylia, McCarver and Aylworth were appointed to confer with the committee of the board of education, Belleville, in respect to the admission of county pupils into the high school of that city.

On Thursday morning communications were read and notices given of proposed by-laws. The sum of $60 was granted to the township of Elizabethtown for school purposes and $25 to No. 10 school. A petition from the township of Elizabethtown asking that the township of Elizabethtown be made a separate township was referred to the committee on the proposed change. Mr. McCarver, school inspector, stated by request the mode by which the township of Elizabethtown could be made a separate township. He received $1,160 from the government for that purpose. The Warden named Charles Thompson of Madoc, as county auditor, and on motion of Mr. Aylworth, the board of education had decided to accept $25 per pupil from the council for each county pupil attending the Belleville high school. The board also decided to accept $15 for his services as clerk during the sitting of the council.

The council adjourned until Tuesday, June 13th.

Extraordinary Result of a Stone. One of the strangest things to be seen at Santa Cruz these days is a queer spouting rock, or rather a tunnel and water spout, through which so much water boils and bubbles furiously. The queer spouting rock developed during a recent great storm. Every two or three minutes a great volume of water six feet high shoots into the air. To view it wholly from the surface it appears to be a gigantic geyser. The water, which is driven up into the air, is so hot that it boils and bubbles furiously. For a thousand years possibly, and may be many more, for nobody knows, the waves of the sea have been beating against the shore, and the rocky shore that they have worn great chasms and tunnels, and the water has found its way to the ground thereabouts by a San Francisco Examiner man revealed novel things. It was found that a long, narrow groove or led into the shore. It was widest at the sea end, like a wedge, and grew narrower as it reached into the land. It extended about eighty feet.

Into the land the waves crashed and hammered as they rolled in from toward the mountains across the bay which border the Salinas river. As the waves crashed against the shore the water was hurled wearing away the soft sandstone which composed it and a portion of the roof above. As lengthwise waves extended far beyond the weak portion of the roof and there was a rebound which was very powerful. Gradually it ate away the roof. Suddenly during the storm a burst through, making an aperture about two feet square and looking much like a hopper to a grain mill. It appears to have been a point where the water was put on to the grain of the caprock, which cracked and fell. When this occurred the water was partially freed from the roof, and under the great pressure of the waves played back and forth it sent the column skyward.

Only a Score of White Rhinoceroses. From a letter addressed by that renowned sportsman, Mr. Selous, to the Field, it appears that that curious and rare animal the white rhinoceros has not yet gone the way of the dodo and the great bustard, though some have ventured to give Mr. Selous authority for saying that he is Mahomedan, which has kept the native hunters to have a fairly big party, and certainly not more I think, than the latter number.—London News.

Distances Covered by Danes. An average waltz takes one over or about three-quarters of a mile, and a square dance makes one cover a half mile and a galop equals a good mile, at a run, too. Count for yourself how much the waltz, the square dance and the galop traverses in an evening. Twenty dances is the average, you know. Of these about twelve are waltzes. There, at once, are thirty miles. Three galops and she has done twelve miles. Five other dances at a half mile apiece, which is hardly a fairly big party, brings her close upon fifteen miles, say round the perimeter of the intermediate stroll in the garden and the trips to the dressing room to renovate one's gown and comb.

set settles with J. A. Bell for building culvert near the C.P.R., and C.O.R. and C.O.R. Junction.

16. That the committee recommend that the road from Vandewater's Corner to Divers' Corner in 4th concession of Sidney and from Atkins church road to railroad, and thence east to lot 30 be assumed as a county gravel road.

17. That the Chairman and Superintendent have power to bank gravel at such places as they may deem to be in the interest of the county, and also to have the road bridge painted when necessary.

18. That the county road from Bridge-water to John Burns be assumed as a county gravel road.

After a long discussion the report was referred back to the committee for the purpose of eliminating all the recommendations for the assumption of further gravel roads with the exception of Rawdon. On motion of Mr. Dench, seconded by Mr. Martin, a by-law was introduced and subsequently passed through the different stages, appointing W. H. Aylworth, of Deseronto, reeve of the County, at a salary of $600 a year. The Council voted $20 to Judge Fraill and $10 to Judge Laidlaw for stationery. A resolution was placed on record expressive of the great esteem in which the retiring reeve, Mr. Aylworth, was held by the council. The sum of $400 to be paid yearly to Dr. Bell as long as he lived.

Mr. Aylworth was anxious to thank the council for his appointment to the clerkship. After twenty years service in the county it was pleasing to know that he retained the position of clerk. He hoped that when he retired from office he would leave as good a reputation behind him as his predecessor.

Mr. Aylworth, chairman of the Finance and Public Property committee, submitted the following report: (1) that the chairman move the pillars in front of the court house, silver and brass cornices, shutters and window frames of the Shire Hall painted; (2) that the fence at the south of Shire Hall be removed and a low fence of gas pipe substituted; (3) that the pillars, cornices and shutters, as are needed for the prison be purchased; (4) that Mr. Hanley be instructed to make plans and estimates for the alterations to the registry office; (5) that the chairman invite tenders for the work, after securing the approval of the plan by the proper government inspectors; (6) that the county clerk be instructed to secure the approval of the improvements. The report was accepted.

By a law assuming the road leading from the bridge road north in Rawdon township as a gravel road was passed through its different stages. The board of education had decided to accept $25 per pupil from the council for each county pupil attending the Belleville high school. The board also decided to accept $15 for his services as clerk during the sitting of the council.

EXPORTING GOLD TO EUROPE.

The Method Adopted for the Packing and Handling of the Coin.

Another half million of gold went abroad from Normandy, of the French line, bound for Havre, Kunt, Loeb & Co. being the shippers. It was claimed that this gold was on an old or new basis, but Treasury officials said that nothing was known about its being wanted until Friday, when it was

So much has been written of late about gold exports that the method of shipping the gold is a matter of interest to those who read about the numerous purchases of gold for Europe. The gold coin is kept in stout canvas bags in the vaults of the Sub-Treasury, each bag containing $5,000. The denominations are kept separate. When a broker receives an order to ship gold, he buys it at the Sub-Treasury, paying for it in treasury notes, gold certificates or greenbacks. Silver certificates are not taken at the Treasury in exchange for gold.

All the carting of specie or bullion in this city is done by the express firm of J. C. Barkley & Son. Barkley is known to every banker and broker in Wall Street, and it is his proud boast that he has never lost a dollar entrusted to his care. While he has drivers and helpers on his wagons to handle the gold, he has a very large staff of men present to superintend the loading. Then they walk beside the wagon to its destination, and the gold is safely delivered. While the gold is being loaded on the truck several men may be seen standing close by, apparently watching the men who are really watching, and watching sharply, too, to see that no attempt at robbery is made. The gold is carried in the express and all heavily armed.

At the broker's office the coin, still in the canvas bags, is placed in kegs resembling the kegs of white lead in which it is packed. They are made of stout oak staves and are heavily hooped with iron. A keg will hold $50,000 in gold, or 5,000 ounces of silver. The kegs are filled with gold or silver, and are filled with silver dollars, 315 pounds. The kegs are then loaded on the truck and the express company's truck, generally just a short time before the hour set for the vessel to sail. It is taken on board and placed in the "specie room," a small steel-walled compartment, well down in the hold. There it remains until unloaded on the other side of the ocean. Once the coin is placed in the specie room on the ship the broker's responsibility ceases.—New York World.

Cold Put a Lustrous Upon Silk.

In one of the large cold storage warehouses in New York, according to the Standard, the silks are filled with cold water. The low temperature has been found to be the best preventive against moths yet discovered. In the Standard's warehouse a quantity of silk, valued at $100,000, is being stored. The commodity is sold by weight, and when stored in ordinary warehouses the silk dries, and naturally decreases in weight. By storing it in a cold water, the moisture is preserved, and the silk keeps its weight. There is another curious fact in regard to the cold storage of silk. Many thousands of silks and ribbons keep their bales and bolts in cold storage with the temperature reduced below the freezing point. It was discovered some years ago that in cold storage the silk dries, and naturally decreases in weight. By storing it in a cold water, the moisture is preserved, and the silk keeps its weight. The Great Chinese Wall.

The wandering, pitching, clambering line stood close before us and, as we, by the rocky of history, was seen that the structure which was intended to keep out that race—the Eastern or Manchou Tartar—one of whom now occupies the empire of China. We were of course dismounted and climbed on the serpentine monster. The evening light and shade lent great effect to the surround.

We therefore wandered and pondered at our leisure, and walked on the top of the wall, varying in height all through and at short intervals it is fortified with large square towers, perhaps thirty feet high. Where we saw it the wall itself had been twenty feet high, and its width at the top perhaps fifteen feet. You cannot see any great length of it at one time, because of the great and sudden irregularities of the ground. It shoots down upon you, runs by you, mounts and disappears, and then gives you a glimpse on a yet more distant ascent.—

Footprints of Father Adam.

Mount Adams, or Adam's Peak, one of the highest mountains on the island of Ceylon, is the scene of a remarkable geological formation and a superstition which has many curious legends and superstitions cluster. According to the Mohammedan story, Adam, after the fall from Eden, was taken by an angel to the top of the mountain, which now bears his name. From this summit the mind's eye can see the footprints and lake which in after years should afflict humanity. These harrowing sights were said to be a weight upon the man, who, yet a good man, that his foot left its imprint upon the solid rock, his tears were hard to dry, and his mind was being both still visible. The footprint itself is 54 feet long by 24 feet wide and shows six perfect toes, the smaller one being larger than the good sized man's foot. For centuries devout Buddhists have made annual pilgrimages to the mountain, and tradition says that the chain bridge across the canyon near the sacred footprint was put there by direction of Alexander the Great.—

o'clock. The attendance of stockholders. The old board of officers were re-elected, owing no doubt to their careful management of the affairs

A Perpetual Grievance.
There are very numerous complaints concerning the frequent infringements of the market by laws and the weights and measures acts on the Deseronto market.
The price of forestal produce has been never ceases and several farmers systematically infringe the regulations by selling light weight butter and other articles. The law requires that each barrel contain certain products should be of a specific weight.
The regulation, it seems, is never enforced and buyers are at a loss. It is about time that our town authorities should grapple with these evils and protect the public and honest farmers who patronize the market. Frequent tests should be instituted by the authorities and strict justice meted out to offenders. Individuals do not care to make complaints and thus incur the enmity of those who charge with these offences. Systematic inspection by authorized officers is the only remedy.

Temperance Meetings.
Commencing on Sunday afternoon Mr. T.
N. Doughty has been conducting temperance meetings in the Opera House. Every evening this week, concluding last evening, the house was crowded. The Rev. Mr.
Jubilee Singers have been an extra attraction with Mr. Doughty and have, with their powerful voices, pleased the large audience.
Mr. Doughty has been about twenty years in the temperance work, and his thrilling portrayal of the evils of intemperance has stopped many thousands in their downward career. There are few, if any, temperance lecturers that have the pleasing appearance, as we have seen in Mr. Doughty, that Mr. Doughty possesses. The addresses given have been free from personal attacks and abuse of those who handle strong drink, as Mr. Doughty claims that kind words are the most powerful in the advancement of the great moral work he is engaged in.
There are many thousands in Deseronto by Mr. Doughty will be great benefit to the meetings, and will not doubt be rewarded by a large number of conversions to their rank, who have repented them for the past.

On Saturday evening, the Jubilee speakers, Mr. Doughty, with the Jubilee Singers, will open a campaign in Kingston on Sunday afternoon. They will appear in Montreal, where they expect to remain a number of weeks.

Wedding Notes.

St. Mark's church was the scene of a wedding on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when Mr. William Huff and Miss Hannah Grant were united in marriage by Rev. T. Stanton assisted by Rev. H. B.
Fenton. Miss Annie Boyce was bridesmaid, while Mr. R. Miller supported the groom.
The bride's dress was of garnet satin and the bridesmaid's of brown tulle. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple, with their friends, repaired to the recently furnished residence of Mr. & Mrs. Huff, 141 St. Mark's street, where a wedding supper was furnished and a most enjoyable evening spent. The Citizens' Band assisted in the evening's pleasure with a serenade. The regularity of the couple was shown by the large number of handsome as well as useful presents given them by friends. Among the presents was a clock from Mr. R. Berry, of Boston. The case, of his own make, was of a unique design, and contained works over one hundred years old. The many friends of the esteemed couple wish them years of continued happiness in which The Tribune heartily joins.

Entertainment at the Council House.

The social entertainment held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Association in Council House on the evening of Thursday
Feb. 2nd, was in every way a grand success.
The hall was crowded and among those present were large detachments of visitors from Deseronto, and all this in spite of very unfavourable weather. At the appointed hour
Mr. Douglas Davies took the chair and performed his duties most satisfactorily during the evening. The programme was varied and of a very attractive character and each number was deservedly applauded by the audience. The Glee Club under the skillful direction of Miss Oronahyatkha gave a number of excellent selections in a manner which left nothing to be desired. They were frequently and persistently applauded.
The Burch Bros. were at their best and entertained the audience. Andy in his famous box set fairly taking away the breath of all present by his mystic performances. Messrs.
Lewis and Hill, violinist and "bones," were great favorites and several times were entered one, two, three and even four times.
The Mohawk Clipping String band dispensed the music at intervals all through the evening. The audience reluctantly departed after the National Anthem, Chief J. B.
Brant and the officers and members of this

MAGIC PILE LOTION, will ease pain at once instantly. It will heal cuts, wounds, chapped hands, ringworm, tetter, shingles, salt rheum, sunburn, stings of bees and other poisonous insects. Try it.

THE ADVERTISING.

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always speaks to the senses common sense of thinking people because it is true; and is always fully substantiated by endorsements which, in the financial world, would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

For a general family cathartic we cordially recommend Hood's Pills.

JERRY McSHERRY—"H. Y. gets a good stroke of piles, don't get that Magic Pile Lotion, if you do it'll stop them so quick, you'll have no time at all to enjoy the disease."

FARMERS AS HORSE TRAINERS.

When farmers read of Nancy Hanks and other float horses breaking the world's record in the special classes for trotting and commanding in the market the combined value of a dozen good farms; the temptation is great for themselves to turn horse trainers.

While the development of the horse speed is commendable, yet it is a sad fact that many of these trainers, and farmers of financial disaster that but few farmers can long withstand the strain. If living in an old settled community, run over money, page for twenty years, and you will see that very few of the men and boys who imagined they possessed a trotter, and tried to develop the same in the usual way, were successful.

Reckoning their time only as valuable as that of the disordered man, there would be a loss in nearly every case, to say nothing of the evil habit contracted by associating with the rough element that is too generally a part of the racing fraternity.

There always more money made by the first owner, if he simply drives his horse on the common road, and if they develop into good trotters or show a good gain, they readily find a purchaser at a fair price, often for more than the animal is worth, or will ever sell for again.

Another serious point in the case is that as a horse is a very valuable animal, he is favored in every way possible, has the best care and attention, and if worked at all is given the long end of the double team when he is put to work.

Always remember there is no short road to wealth, even in the development of trotters.

THIS IS MEANT FOR YOU.

It has been truly said that half the world does not know how the other half lives. Comparatively few of us have perfect health, owing to the impure condition of our blood. But we rub along from day to day, with scarcely a thought, unless forced to our attention, of the thousands all about us who are suffering from blood impurities, and who are liable to serious blood disorders, and whose agonies can only be imagined.

The marked success of Hood's Sarsaparilla for these troubles, as shown in our advertising columns frequently, certainly seems to justify urging the use of this excellent medicine by all who know that their blood is disordered. Every claim in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is fully backed up by what the medicine has done and is still doing, and when its proprietors urge its merits and its use upon all who suffer from impure blood, in great or small degrees, they certainly mean to include you.

EXTRAORDINARY SURGERY.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian tells the following story:—"An interesting and curious case, illustrating the recuperative power of nature has just been recorded by a surgeon. A working man, while at work in a quarry, was cutting blocks of tile, had the tip of one of the fingers of his left hand clean cut off with a knife. Seven hours afterwards the man was seen by a doctor for treatment. The surgeon determined to attempt to replace the missing portions of the fingers, although the prospect of getting them to unite seemed to be most remote. The wounds were carefully cleaned and the ends of the fingers were restored to their places and fixed by sutures. In a fortnight firm union was found to have occurred, and when the patient was next seen, after a considerable lapse of time, the surgeon was able to note that both motion and sensation were perfect in the ends of the fingers."

MAKES FLESH AND BLOOD.

When the system is all run down and there seems to be no hope of obtaining nourishment for the body by the ordinary process of food supply and digestion, when the body is all run down, it is in the time of the Miller's Emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil. THE ARIZONA KICKER.

THE EDITOR ANNOUNCES HIS DETERMINATION ABOUT THE POSTMASTER.

IT MUST COME.—We shall have to shoot the Postmaster of this town and we shall have to shoot him soon dead. We have sought to dodge the issue in every possible way, but it will not be dodged. Two years ago, when he was appointed, we thought he was too good for the position and ought to refuse it. It wasn't three months before we had to shoot him in the shoulder in the interests of our subscribers. Four months later we felt it our duty to shoot him again to expedite the mail service. Ninety days since we got the drop on him again, and but for his promise of reform he should have created a vacancy in the postal service. Saturday last we received a score of complaints from subscribers regarding the non-arrival of their papers. The package for Lone Tree had not reached that office at all. Clutch Valley was sixteen pages short. Of eighteen papers sent to Moon Bend only eight were through. We called at the Postoffice to make our statement and asked for an explanation, but the Postmaster refused to see us. He sent out word that he was running that shambles and if we didn't like his style we could move on to the next town. He also added that if we came grinning around again he should open us up through the general delivery window with two six-shooters.

Saturday evening we called a meeting at the Kicker office, which was attended by twenty-two of our most prominent citizens. We made our statement of the case, and after considerable discussion, this resolution was adopted by Judge Barker and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the duty of the editor of the Kicker, as a man, a citizen, and an editor, to shoot the Postmaster on sight.

We do not wish to rush affairs of this kind. Sunday afternoon we sent a copy of the resolution to the Postmaster and asked him to get his official affairs in shape as soon as possible, and Monday morning we telegraphed Mr. Wasmakker that we should probably be a vacancy to fill before the week was ended. We owe a solemn duty to our subscribers and we shall not shrink it. We are prepared to guarantee to get it to him regularly every week, even if we have to clean out two or three postoffices to do it. Should the Postmaster call at this office and make reasonable excuses and promise better things for the future we should probably be inclined to leniency.

At a Saturday evening meeting we don't show up within a day or two there will either be a new editor of this paper or a new Postmaster in the shanty on Apache avenue.

SANITARY PRECAUTIONS.

The Many Services Rendered by Bacteria to the Lower Nature.

We are fortunate that only few bacteria are disease producing; the great majority of them are harmless and beneficial to nature. They are everywhere, principal agents of oxidation of organic matter, and it is to them that we owe the phenomena of decay.

They are the common scavengers of the earth. Were it not for their constant and beneficent work the world would soon be choked up with decaying animal and vegetable matter and all the higher orders of life would perish.

But the infectious bacteria have the power of elaborating nitrogenous poisons, known as ptomaines, and the question whether zymotic diseases are produced by bacteria themselves or by these ptomaines cannot in our present imperfect state of knowledge, be answered with certainty. In some cases, however, the disease seems to come from organic poison. Thus typhoid, which is the ailment produced by bacteria in the fermentation of milk, produces a complex of symptoms in the human system resembling those of cholera infantum, so it is very probable that typhoid is the chemical irritant producing the disease. What is true of cholera infantum is perhaps also true of typhoid fever and other fifth diseases, but not at the same stage of life.

All bacteria feed upon organic matter, and developing great numbers in fermenting solutions of it. Their number is generally approximately proportional to the amount of impurity, and therefore may represent the relative danger of potable waters. A water that contains a large number of them should not be used for drinking without first being boiled. By boiling polluted water for half an hour all the infections (but not the bacteria) are killed in it, but they are not killed to remove the so-called stable substances, and aerated to render it potable such water can be used with perfect safety for drinking purposes. Since the infectious bacteria are the agents of all fifth diseases, it should be the aim in all sanitary analysis of water to determine whether they are actually present in the water, or what answers the same purpose, to determine the conditions favorable for their development. Whenever a chemical analysis of water shows the presence of sewage in a water its use should be discontinued for drinking, without an expensive bacteriological examination.—Engineering Magazine.

Relation of Climate to Crime.

Now we have a factor to consider in our study of crime that is an important one, and its bearing upon the heredity of crime is a subject which has attracted the attention of Prof. Bosco, who has made a comparative study of the statistics of homicide in Europe, shows that, while in eight principal countries the rate of crime is about equal—with a population of 128,500,000 people over ten years of age, there are 3,777 annual trials for murder. Italy, with 32,600,000 inhabitants, has 3,600 such trials. France, Belgium, England, Scotland, Ireland, Austria, Holland, Germany, with six times the population of Italy, furnish three-fourths as many murders. The statistical tables of Dr. Bosco place the civilized nations of Europe, Scandinavia and Russia, in the following ascending order of homicidal criminality: Holland, England, Germany, Scotland, France, Belgium, Ireland, Austria, Hungary, Spain and Italy—a scale of ascending suggestion to the psychologist.

Hippocrates believed that all regions liable to violent changes of climate produced the most criminal and stupid people. Buckle declared that the interruption of work caused by instability of climate leads to instability of character. Quetelet has shown that the number of crimes against property relatively to the number of crimes against the person increases considerably as we advance toward the North. Another eminent student of French criminal statistics, M. Tarde, confirms the opinion of the latter authority, and admits that high temperature does exercise a decided influence on the criminal passion. But the most exhaustive investigations in this problem have been recently undertaken in Italy by Signor Ferri, whose criminal statistics of France show that crimes against the person rise with the temperature, those against property do the reverse.

Clearly climate has a great influence, but how about India, which is far less homicidal than any European country? Ferri has not half as many murders annually as England. With this example before us, then, whatever climate has to do with fostering these crimes must be obviated by a better social organization. Here racial distinction comes in, and Prof. Ferri's table gives this sequence of races, namely: First, the Teutons; the Franco-Celt; a mixture of Slav, Latin and Teuton in Austria; the Magyar; lastly the Latin. Latin-American, accordingly, is more homicidal than the Anglo-Saxon North.—Phrenological Journal.

Showers of Ink.

The meteorological records of the world chronicle several incontestable instances of black rainfalls, to say nothing of the more startling phenomena of "showers of blood, blue snows," etc. Prof. Barker, in April, 1845, laid before the Royal Society of Dublin some observations on a shower of black rain which fell around Carlow and Kilkenny, extending over an area of about 400 square miles.

LENGTH OF MILES.

Distance Measurements in Use in Different Countries at the Present Time.

It is no wonder that there is some uncertainty about the length of a mile. English speaking countries have four different miles. The ordinary mile of 5,280 feet, and the geographical or nautical mile of 6,083, making a difference of about one-eighth between the two; then there is the Scotch mile of 5,928 feet, and the Irish mile of 6,730 feet; four various miles, every one of which is still in use. Then almost every country has its own standard mile. The Romans had their millia passuum, 1,000 paces, which must have been about 4,000 feet in length, unless we ascribe to Caesar's legionaries great stepping capacity. The German mile of today is 34,318 feet in length, more than four and a half times as long as our mile. The Dutch, the Danes and the Prussians enjoy a mile that is 18,440 feet long, three and a half times the length of ours; and the Swiss got more exercise in walking one of their miles than we get in walking five miles, for their mile is 9,153 yards long, while ours is only 1,760 yards. The Italian mile is only a few feet longer than ours. The Roman mile is shorter, while the Tuscan and the Turkish miles are 150 yards longer. The Swedish mile is 1,312 yards long, and the Vienna post mile is 5,396 yards in length. So here is a list of twelve different miles; and besides this there are other measures of distance, not counting the French kilometer, which is rather less than two-thirds of a mile. The Brazilian mile is 1,760 yards, and the Neapolitan miglio is about the same length; the Japanese ri, or mile, is two and one-half times the Roman; the verst is five-fifths as long as our mile; while the Persian standard is a fersakh, four and a half miles long, which is said to be equal to the Persian mile, and is the standard of Xenophon's Anabasis. The league that is familiar to readers of French and Spanish both varies just as does the mile. In Brazil it is three and four-fifths miles long, in France it is three miles, in Spain it is two and two-thirds miles, and in England it is two and one-half miles long. The only measure that is about the same in every country is the meter, and even two and one-half times as long as it is 39,370.432 inches in length, while in this country it is 39,370.79 inches—a difference to be mentioned, but not to be considered.—Engineering Magazine.

Only a Score of White Kinocrocers.

From a letter addressed by that renowned sportsman, Mr. Selons, to the Field, it appears that that curious and rare animal the white kinocrocer has not yet gone the way of the dodo and the great bustard, though some have ventured to give Mr. Selons' authority for saying that he is Makhondah, which has kept the native hunters to the west of the Umali River, that this gentleman attributes the fact that in this part of the world there are still some of the kinocrocer, which in less than twenty years has utterly exterminated them in every other portion of South Central Africa. "There you get 'em," Mr. Selons adds, "but ten or twenty of these animals left, but certainly not more I think, than the latter number."—London News.

Dances Covered by Dancers.

An average waltz takes one over or about the shoulders of a mile, and a square dance makes you cover a half mile and a gallop equals a good mile, at a run, too. Count for yourself how much the girl, with a well proportioned gramme traverses in an evening. Twenty dances is the average, you know. Of these about twelve are waltzes. There are, of course, more minuettes. Three gallops and she has done twelve miles. Five other dances at a half mile apiece, which is hardly a fairly big estimate, brings her close upon fifteen miles, to say nothing of the intermission stroll in the garden and the trips to the dressing room to renovate one's gown and combs.

A parish headle was once much exercised at the appearance of a strange old gentleman who, when the sermon was about to begin, took an ear trumpet, in two parts, out of his pocket, and began strengthening them together. Mr. A. Frazer, of the Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company, Toronto, writes to us saying that he noticed in a recent number of THE TRIBUNE a reference to some birds "that arrived from the south."

Of the opinion that the birds are the pine grosbeaks and that they have come down from the far north, and that they visit us every few years when the weather has been very cold and food probably scarce. On arriving here they are tame and may be caught by means of a noose on the end of a stick and fed with bread.

One of the birds had one of these birds for two or three years.

It was amusing to watch the ladies last Wednesday endeavouring to make their way eastward along Main street. When they reached the corner of the street they found a quadrangle. The boards laid on each side of the street were knee deep in slush and water. Several bold women waded through; others with better judgment took the middle of the street. The snow by-law should be repealed. It is not enforced.

Several lots in Cornhill, London, in the immediate neighbourhood of the Bank of England, were sold several days ago, at a price that averaged 1,250 per foot, or some 250,000 per acre. Thanks.
Our thanks are due to all who so promptly and cheerfully settled their accounts during the past week. Newspaper offices suffer severely in a financial way from the presence of a large number of delinquent accounts. Generally these are individually very small and therefore considered to be of little consequence, but in the aggregate they swell to a large sum. Hence the duty of each of our patrons settling promptly. The press association at its recent meeting moved unanimously in the direction of cash system and the insisting upon payment in advance for all subscriptions. Look at your receipts and settle your accounts.

THE BUDGET SPEECH.

A Reduction of the Duties on

COAL OIL AND BINDER TWINE

Other Reductions to be Considered.

The Export Duty on Logs Will Not Now Be Imposed, But May Be Later On. "Hoping Machinery Will Be Exempted—Preferential Trade a Big Plank in the Conservative Platform—Cartwright Condemned the Policy of the Government as Presented—Large Increase in Exports.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—The Budget Speech of the Hon. Mr. Foster, Minister of Finance, delivered yesterday, was one of the very best of its kind ever heard since Confederation. The speaker was packed on the four sides of the chamber. Nearly every member was in his seat.

Lady Thompson and Miss Thompson and the wives and daughters of a great many ministers and members filled the Speaker's gallery, while in the Senators' gallery there was a goodly attendance of the old gentlemen and their lady friends.

Mr. Foster's speech occupied exactly two hours and 20 minutes, the last hour of which was devoted to tariff, its effect upon the country, and the proposed revision and present amendments brought down by the Government.

Mr. Foster is a slight man in his 46th year, weighing less than 140 pounds, with a small, well-shaped head covered with fine brown hair, not often cut but always well brushed, and a mustache and half-pointed away on his nose.

He wore a black morning coat, stood up quite erect in his place and is very free and easy on his feet in addressing the House. His voice and cut and manner are all flavored with his early occupation of teacher. He has a well-pitched voice, and his address is marked by a frequent emphasis on many of his words.

During the course of his speech Mr. Foster was loudly cheered by his followers, and especially when he took a shot at his opponents across the way. The Opposition listened in good temper, and gave him, as like everyone in the House, an attentive hearing.

Mr. Foster opened by reviewing the revenue and expenditure for the past year, which he reviewed very nearly as he had forecast in March last. The revenue had been $36,921,871, a decrease from the previous year of $1,657,439.

He went over the increases and decreases which had taken place in imports, the most noticeable of which was the "remarkable increase" in the quantity of sugar imported, which was 345,418,455 pounds, or an average of about 70 pounds for every man, woman and child in the Dominion.

All the duty collected on sugar was $7,823, but the duty had not been abolished in 1891 and the old doctrine had been maintained, the duty would have amounted to $5,418,918, so that, even allowing for the increase in excise duties, the decrease of taxation had been about four and three-quarter millions, or about 90 cents per head of the population.

It was the fashion, he said, to pretend that taxation was lower under the Mackenzie regime, but on the articles of tea, coffee and sugar alone there had been a saving to the people of $2,333,700, from what they would have had the duties remained as they were under Mr. Mackenzie.

Turning to the expenditure, he said that they showed an increase of $422,327, but this was entirely caused by the long session of 1891, which had cost $1,209,570, as compared with $799,458 in 1890, and the previous session. He added, amid laughter from the Conservative side, that the Government had no control over the length of the session and had given no occasion for it.

From 1887 to last year the expenditure had been kept almost at a dead level, and it would not have increased last year but for the long session. This was the best answer to the charge that the Government was extravagant.

With regard to the debt he pointed out that for several years there had practically been no increase, but the reduction of the duties on the importation of duties had caused an increase of $3,325,403 last year. For the current year he estimated that the revenue would be over $39,000,000, but this may be increased by the expenditure on quarantine stations.

Turning to the commerce of the country he regretted that the statistics relating to internal trade were not more complete and hoped that the new Board of Trade and Commerce would do something in the way of improving these statistics. In foreign commerce, however, the increase had been the largest ever known.

In round numbers the exports in 1878 amounted to $79,000,000, in 1891 to $98,000,000 and in 1892 to $114,000,000. The percentage of increase in 1892 was the largest ever known. He then entered into details of the export trade, showing how greatly the trade with Great Britain had increased, as well as the trade with Germany, France, the West Indies and other countries. Trade with the United States had also increased, and this he attributed largely to the McKinley tariff. He dealt at some length on the development of our trade with Great Britain, and pointed out the great increase which had taken place in our exports of cheese, bacon, eggs and other articles to that country.

At 47 minutes past 4 he turned his attention to the tariff, saying that no man with his eyes open could deny that the tariff was attracting great attention. There was a good deal of agitation on the subject and a good deal of discussion. He reviewed the three propositions of free trade, revenue tariff and moderate protection, pointing out why the latter was best suited to Canada.

With regard to preferential trade within the empire, he said that the idea of preferential free trade between all the islands and countries embraced within the British Empire was a very seductive one, but he doubted whether it was one which could be carried out immediately. If it could be brought about he thought it would be the highest, greatest and grandest achievement ever accomplished in the world's history. It was no great idea that it would be well for Canada to hold herself in a position to take advantage of it should it ever become practicable.

Parliament was already pledged to the principle of preferential free trade, and many leading thinkers in Great Britain were becoming impressed with its importance. It did not appear as if it was immediately practicable, but still changes of opinion sometimes come very swiftly, and it was well to be prepared.

Coming to the question of tariff changes, he said in effect that the Government proposed to make a thorough investigation of the subject during summer, and if any changes were found necessary they would be proposed next year. There were a few items, however, which it was proposed to deal with this year.

With regard to the export duty on logs he said that question would be examined during the summer, but clearly indicated that if the duty was reimposed any request would be paid to any conditions which had been incorporated in timber limits sales.

With regard to coal he had been decided to let the duty of seven and one-fifth cents per imperial gallon remain, but to remove the incidental protection in the way of importation in bulk, duty on barrels and inspection, which was estimated to amount to about two cents a gallon.

With regard to binder twine the duty was reduced from twenty-five cents to twelve and a half per cent. The present exemption from duty of mining machinery was extended for three years.

Sir Richard Cartwright spoke for about an hour and a half, replying to Mr. Foster and criticizing the policy of the Government, which he strongly condemned. In conclusion he moved the following amendment:

"That the present customs tariff laws be heavily and unjustly upon the great consuming classes of the Dominion and that the same be at once thoroughly reformed in the direction of freer trade, and that the amount of taxes collected be limited to the sums required to meet the economical and efficient and economically administered."

Hon. Mr. Haggart moved the adjournment of the House until 10 o'clock on Thursday.

The House adjourned at 10 o'clock on Thursday.

TWO FAILURES.

The Total Liabilities to One Aggregate $34,000, and in the Other $17,000.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.—A meeting of the creditors of Begg & Co. of Collingwood was held yesterday in this city, which the advocates, John McCling, brought down the statement showing liabilities of $23,935, and assets of $12,577, leaving an apparent deficit of $11,357. The firm consisted of C. C. Begg, but the real man in the concern was W. G. Begg, who managed the whole business.

An assignment was made by this firm about three years ago, when they compromised at 75 cents on the dollar. It appears they have had several losses by fire. At no offer was made by the insolvent the stock will be sold within the next week by public auction. The inspectors appointed were Mr. Hyslop, Mr. Levey and Mr. Blackley.

The meeting was adjourned for two weeks in order to await the result of the sale. The principal creditors are in Toronto—Montreal, S. Greenhalgh, Son & Co. of the latter place being in for $3,995. They had an assignment of the book accounts, notes and acceptances of the insolvent's securities.

The assigned meeting of creditors in the matter of Patterson & Co. of Lindsay was held in this city yesterday. The statement brought down by Mr. McCling, the assignee, shows liabilities of $17,000 with assets amounting to about $10,000. The statement advanced by the insolvent for the deficit was loss on stock at Kensington, 100,000, advertising, 100,000, and the balance. The insolvent were visited by fire a short time ago, and although the matter is not yet adjusted, the assignee hopes to get about $2000 insurance, which added to $10,000 worth of stock, will bring the assets up to $12,000. Mr. Patterson made an offer of 40 cents on the dollar for the debt payable in 30 days, 10 cents in two months, and the balance in three months, the meeting being adjourned for a week in order to hear from the creditors as to their acceptance of the insolvent's offer. Mr. Watson, Mr. Caldwell and Mr. J. A. Macintosh were appointed inspectors of the estate.

The larger creditors are Caldwell & Co., $2300; Lailey, Watson & Co., $1800; John MacDonald & Co., $1800; Hutchinson & Co., $1000; Sampson, Kennedy & Co., $600; Thibault Bros. & Co., $1700, the latter being a Montreal firm.

INCOMPATIBILITY.

A Thoughtful, Sensible Article For Flighty Women.

Said a brilliant woman, whom not one of the refined coteries who heard her thought of calling "immoral": "At eighteen I married, of my own foolish will, a man of fifty, who adored me. At twenty I had learned that it would be a sin to waste my full young life—the only life I could know this side of the grave—in so monstrous a union. He was a good man, and, according to his lights, a model husband. I could not but respect him, but we had not one emotion in common. We were wholly incompatible in feeling, sentiment, and nature. Upon this ground, and this alone, I obtained a divorce."

Tear away sentimental verbiage and this woman's case stands thus: Her husband's ideas and tastes were not to her apprehension, favorable to the development of what she sketched as the life she ought to lead. Her individual happiness outweighed all other considerations in her mind. The marriage vow, uttered of her own free will, because she then fancied that she was forwarding her selfish interests by the union, became a rope which when inclination veered to another quarter.

There is an extreme of altruism which is fanatical. Ball egiotism of the type here avowed can never be anything but contemptible.

It is found if honestly widened to make the best of a bad bargain, that the sensitive incompatibility made the worst of one that, to dispassionate judges, was only doubtful. Carlyle's caustic reminder to the complaining egotist that "there is no act of Parliament to the effect that then should be happy," comes intelligently here. The applicant at twenty against her eighteen year old self was by her own confession incapable of standing in her lot and conquering circumstances to demanding that everything in her environment should be auspicious to her growth in the direction indicated by wilful imagination, she testified to her inability to bear and to perform what Providence or fate or her own ill-judged desires had brought to her.

Well-to-do is not Eden any more than men and women are angels while wearing the garment of mortality. The united pair, turning from the altar, albeit one in name, and, for the time, in heart, are no more made perfect in patience and wisdom than in holiness and happiness. How they fare in the novel state, entered upon with unquestioning eagerness, will depend as much upon the discipline of temper and will, and the practice of the every day graces of mercy, goodness, and truth, if each had continued to lead an existence detached from the other, and been compelled to defer to the whims of blood relatives and to consent the wishes of chance associates.

The serious mistake that lies at the root of this form of welded wretchedness is the failure to see that, in perfection, without which ballad-makers and romance-writers tell us marriage is a mockery. Nobody can live up to a standard as false as that is, mischievous. Husbands and wives are as fallible as he had never been in love, and hoped, through love, to find a terrestrial heaven. There is a nobility in the pursuit of personal happiness for the mutual affection which, thanks to Him who implanted it, yields but slowly to the pressure of crucial disappointment. It is refined and strengthened by sustained effort to rise superior to the disposition to seek out infirmities and to punish wrong doing. With each victory over selfish ease and desire it approximates the love that to gentile long suffering adds belief and love in all good and gracious possibilities.—Marion Harland, in Harper's Bazar.

Civilization Brings Short Sighted. The subject of short-sightedness in animals was under consideration at a meeting of the Paris Academy of Medicine, when M. Motais, an Angers man, stated that this defect in vision is one of the products of civilization. An unexpected proof of this view was found in the custom of wild beasts, such as tigers, lions, etc. M. Motais having examined their eyes by means of the ophthalmoscope, discovered that those captured after the age of six or eight months retained the long sight natural to them, but that those made captive before that age were short-sighted. Some time since a case was published of a horse in this country that wears spectacles. The farmer who owned him, having come to the conclusion from various symptoms that the horse was short-sighted, got an oculist to take the necessary measurements and had a pair of spectacles manufactured for him. They were made to fasten firmly into the headstall, so that they did not shake out of place. At first the horse appeared startled by this addition to his harness, but he soon got used to his glasses and liked them. "In fact," said the owner to the Brooklyn Eagle man, "when I turned out to pasture he felt uneasy and uncomfortable without his goggles, and one Sunday he hung round the barn and whined so plaintively that I put the headstall and goggles on him and he was so glad that he rubbed my shoulder with his nose." It is thought that the vice of shying, which spoils so many other valuable horses, is induced by short-sightedness. The animal cannot see some particular object sufficiently plainly to feel sure that it is of a harmless nature and so shies away from it. Owners of dogs may often prove that their pets suffer from short sight, for it will often be found that a dog is unable to recognize people with whose appearance it is most intimate when they are a little way off, while another dog, at the same distance, has no difficulty whatever in recognizing them. Dogs have been provided with spectacles in the same way as the farmer's horse alluded to, and have been conclusively shown to have derived great benefit from them.

Cultivate Refinement. Do not draw into your shell. So much is to be gained by contact with the outside world. The influence of the social current has the same effect upon human nature as that produced by the constant friction of the sea upon the pebbles on the beach. Rough corners are polished and sharp angles smoothed down into symmetrical proportions. But it is not enough to be simply in the swim. One must be happy, cultivate that society which elevates and enables. Seek relaxation for mind and body among a set of people who hold broad views of living. Narrow-minded men and women, and all who are full of them, will only give you distorted ideas of life. Those will change the sunniest and most healthful disposition into one morose, churlish and ill-natured.

THE TERRA COTTA INDUSTRY.

When our forests are cleared away, when the lofty pines and sturdy oaks and leafy maples are thinned out, when it will no longer pay to collect and bring the logs to the mills—must Deseronto then become a deserted town? Echo answers, No. In the old world when the forests disappeared the people found coal; in this new world when the settlers have split the valleys into fence rails and were looking for supplies of fuel and light, coal oil was discovered. When the oil wells were ceasing to flow natural gas came to the surface, and is now controlled in order to furnish heat and power. Then again the more subtle elements of nature are utilized and men now produce electricity for light, heat, and many other purposes.

In this district of Canada neither coal, oil nor natural gas are found in the rocky strata. The inhabitants of Ontario, in the past frequently illustrated what can be done in the way of utilizing the raw material in the country tributary to Deseronto. Of late years the lumber taken time by the forelock and turned to account a material with which nature has richly endowed the Bay of Quinte district as well as other portions of Ontario. What else, but lumber, what else, but lumber, is the material long hidden under the pine stumps. It was of more common form—clay, more homely clay—which had to be moved out of the way of railways, those great channels of commerce. Little did the navies who delved and trundled off the logs, the principal freight that would be carried over the road would be the same clay, fashioned into shapes useful and ornamental, vitrified by fire and destined to fill the place once thought to be monopolized by wood and iron. This town of Deseronto built up and rendered famous by its manufacture of the products of the forest will still continue to employ its thousands of hands. Their exertions will be turned into new channels; instead of being directed to lumber piles they will be occupied on the piles of Terra Cotta ware and kindred industries, and instead of the buzzing of the glistening saws will be heard the grinding of the clay crusher. It is but dawning upon this community how many uses can be made of clay. What is there in clay which it cannot be made to do that better and at less expense than with other materials? Let us take an illustration. The usefulness of a cedar shingle only confined to best to a period of a few years; but a clay shingle will practically last forever.

The term "Terra Cotta" is of Italian derivation, and literally translated, means "cooked or baked earth." In dealing with Terra Cotta we are not experimenting with a new and untried material, but we are reviving the oldest architectural composition. Its modern employment is but a revived taste and is the result of laudable efforts on the part of the best architects to secure lasting and honest material in lieu of the sham and dishonest effects produced by galvanized iron. It is not considered the commonest treatment of material in architecture, but the appearance of stone. When iron or other materials wear masks and are not what they represent themselves to be, they become counterfeit. Terra Cotta is not intended to represent any other material and to use it in that way is to invite deception. It is subject to all colors from the mixtures of clays and action of chemical and mineral matters added to the clays before burning. These colors so produced are permanent and one of the pleasures which arise from the use of Terra Cotta is the satisfaction engendered by the study of the material. We cannot pay a more eloquent tribute to Terra Cotta than by taking a few sentences translated from the French of "Jacques" in the grandeur of the expiring Roman Empire when the people were robed in fine minks and purples, and these colors so produced are permanent and one of the pleasures which arise from the use of Terra Cotta is the satisfaction engendered by the study of the material. We cannot pay a more eloquent tribute to Terra Cotta than by taking a few sentences translated from the French of "Jacques" in the grandeur of the expiring Roman Empire when the people were robed in fine minks and purples, and these colors so produced are permanent and one of the pleasures which arise from the use of Terra Cotta is the satisfaction engendered by the study of the material.

all the splendor. The bold cupolas which the eye hesitated to measure under their daring images which, if constructed of stone would have sunk of their own weight, those cupolas owe their existence still, to excite our admiration, to the judicious employment of Terra Cotta in hollow form.

Mr. Walter Smith grows equally eloquent on the permanency of Terra Cotta after pointing out the notable examples in England and the United States. "Terra Cotta with form displays every colour known in art, except gold and silver, and these colours so possible combination of the earth is consumed with a fervent heat Terra Cotta will be left behind us as a permanent record of past civilization. You may reduce all the pictures in the world to tinder, melt all the bronze statues until they run in the gutters; scorch the red hot iron and remain unimpaired. Paris, burn all the buildings into lime and all animal creatures and vegetation into ashes; and all the while Terra Cotta will stand the test of time, and will cool down again into the shape we fashioned it. It is the noblest of all vehicles for the expression of art. It may be difficult to burn the red hot iron, but it is not so with Terra Cotta. The surface of the material is as hard as cast iron, uniform in colour. Altogether it is a brilliant success and it has these advantages, viz: the miserable climate and dense atmosphere of London cannot be so deleterious to the surface as hard and smooth and every storm of rain and every gale of wind remove impurity as they would from a white plate. After the exposure of years, they are as fresh as the day they were erected, while stone work which has not been so long is as black as the inside of a chimney."

Chicago found at its big fire that cast iron buildings were not fire proof. Boston found that its iron construction, that its polished and chiseled granite flew to pieces under fire. Chicago, however, now builds higher and more permanent fire proof edifices than can be found in any part of the world owing to the employment of Terra Cotta material. When you visit the World's Fair, do not confound the material with which the exhibition buildings are made with Terra Cotta work as they are only built of "stair" intended to last for a short season, though the artists employed are the same who model for Terra Cotta architecture. Terra Cotta is not for a season, but for ever.

The Boston Museum, preserving all the grand works of art and sculpture are first produced in clay, and the transformation of the created work of art into marble is but a work of patience for the skilled artisan to give the artist's conception in an imperishable material. Why not burn the clay and make works of art numerous with every kind of the master of the proper use of Terra Cotta in building operations. Timber will rot, stone, even granite, will disintegrate, iron will oxidize, and these other materials are subject to the action of fire and other destroying influences of the elements, but Terra Cotta properly made will pass through centuries and will be the last to yield to the influences before which all natural products must give way.

The Boston Museum, preserving all the advantages to be derived from this great industry, so rapidly coming to the front of late years, have honored it with a factory more spacious than any devoted to their other numerous enterprises. The wares turned out are of varied descriptions and uses. Large quantities of hollow brick are made, and there is a vast future before this branch of the industry. These bricks have a resisting power for carrying weight equal to the old common solid brick, and on account of their lightness can be used in the erection of walls higher than are generally built of ordinary brick. The hollow cavities prevent the dampness from penetrating through the wall and make the best groundwork to receive plaster, while they give a hard, solid interior, dry, saving lat and nails, and leaving nothing whatever upon which the fiery fiend may feed. Such a building, erected by an artist, must be a joy forever. At the factory can be seen porous Terra Cotta in all its shapes and architectural Terra Cotta fashioned for all conceivable positions. Roof tile are turned out in all sizes, dimensions and degrees of hardness, while they are also impervious to water. Bricks are manufactured in all colors and shades from a bright red to delicate pinks and light buff, perfect in form and second to none made elsewhere. We present the readers of THE TRIBUNE with a cut of a piece of work executed at the Terra Cotta factory of the Rathbun Company. It represents an Indian girl of Tyndinaga. Visitors to the works have been generous in their expressions of admiration, and Mr. Hynes, the artist, has come in for many deserved compliments for the skill which he has evidenced in the performance of his self-imposed task. The statue is the property of E. W. Rathbun, Esq.

It was only by superhuman efforts that he extricated himself. The episode has been faithfully recorded in the chronicles of the Deseronto Amateur Minstrels.

A Close Call.

Two boys aged ten and fourteen years, sons of Chief Jacob B. Brant, of Tyndinaga, were on a narrow escape from death last Saturday forenoon. In the absence of their parents they found a flask of gunpowder with which they proceeded to perform some experiments. They were in the act of putting a few grains of powder at a time into the stove fire when, as might be expected, the contents of the flask ignited and an explosion followed. The two boys were severely burned about the head and body, while considerable damage was caused to the room in which they were playing at the time. Some of the children ran a long distance to a neighbor's house for assistance and it is satisfactory to learn that both boys are now in a fair way of recovery from the severe injuries which resulted from their boyish heedlessness.

Mill Burned.

The Rathbun Company's mill at Campbellford was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. It was closed for the winter and no one was working in it, the usual spring repairs not having been begun. There was an insurance of $6,000 on the building and about $100,000 worth of lumber are not damaged to any extent. The fire is no doubt of incendiary origin, as several fires have taken place in Campbellford during the past month and no reason is known for any of them. The Company will rebuild.

The Crusaders did excellent work during their former stay in Deseronto. The meetings will be held in Union hall.

High School Board.

Dr. Newton, on the 13th inst., tendered his resignation as a member of the Deseronto high school board. At a meeting held on the 20th inst., the board regrettably accepted the resignation of Dr. Newton. The board requested to notify the County Council and ask that body to fill the vacancy at the next meeting. Mr. G. W. Wright was elected clerk of the board. The Truancy Act.

Chief Gunyon, who is also truant officer, has been giving his attention to some offenders against the truancy act. It is hoped that he will perform his duty without fear or favor. There are about two hundred children who are not in school. The truancy act is a great deal of work to perform if this multitude is to be gathered into the school this term. It is a great pity the task had not been commenced at the beginning of the school year. Now that the School Board has taken the affair in hand the law will not do but be rigidly enforced in all cases.

Methodist Church.

The special meetings held here for the last three weeks have been interesting from the first and have resulted in quickening the membership in greater spiritual energy, and conversion of quite a number. Several heads of families, on Sunday next Rev. George Stafford, formerly with W. A. Dunnett, of a R. T. of revival team, will be the speaker for two intramural and Deseronto team for the remaining candidate. Both ceremonies were well exemplified. During the evening there were proposals for membership. After the lodge closed the visiting brethren were very hospitably entertained by the Deseronto Odd Fellows at a grand dinner, where about eighty members of the craft sat down to a sumptuous repast, prepared in first-class style by the staff of that popular hotel. A very pleasant time was passed, the visitors expressing themselves as more than pleased with their reception. Much of the success of the affair was due to the committee of management, Bro. R. N. Irvine E. W. Scott and R. H. Bogart.

Oddfellows Fraternizing.

On Wednesday evening about thirty-five members of Argyle lodge, No. 212, and Napane lodge, No. 58, came up from Napane to pay an old friend a prolonged business visit to Deseronto lodge, No. 102. During the session of the lodge there were three initiations, the team from Napane performing the ceremony for two intramural and Deseronto team for the remaining candidate. Both ceremonies were well exemplified. During the evening there were proposals for membership. After the lodge closed the visiting brethren were very hospitably entertained by the Deseronto Odd Fellows at a grand dinner, where about eighty members of the craft sat down to a sumptuous repast, prepared in first-class style by the staff of that popular hotel. A very pleasant time was passed, the visitors expressing themselves as more than pleased with their reception. Much of the success of the affair was due to the committee of management, Bro. R. N. Irvine E. W. Scott and R. H. Bogart.

Obituary.

The Napane Beaver of the 10th inst. thus refers to the death of an estimable young lady, who died on the 6th inst. Deceased was a niece of Mrs. Wm. Barnip, of Deseronto. "It is our duty this week to announce the death of Miss Nellie Wagar, of South Napane, in the first blush of womanhood, and when she had arrived at an age when she should have been a blessing to her family and a comfort to her friends. Deceased was but a young girl, scarcely a year and a half away from parents and friends with ruthless death. She was a favorite with all who knew her. A member of the regular attendance of the Western Methodist Sabbath school, and was attending the College Institute until a week ago, and expected to receive an excellent education. It is a sad termination. To show their appreciation of her worth and to show their loss the teachers and pupils of the school have decided to wear a badge of mourning for her. Deceased was a young lady of marked ability, and an ambitious, successful, and we are often called upon to wonder why those who are so full of promise of useful lives are taken away; but God's ways are not our ways, and we must leave things well. Mr. and Mrs. Wagar have the sympathy of the whole community in their bereavement, especially as one of their sons is now recovering from the disease which terminated so fatally in his sister's case."

West End Mission.

The West End Mission continues to prosper under the devoted ministrations of Mr. J. C. Hanley, of Read, purchased a fine young bull of imported "Toffinity," the first prize bull at the Industrial Exhibition last September, and an excellent milker. His plan is to determine to keep his herd second to none, and be always in a position to supply the farmers in this section with the finest animals of the most useful and profitable kind. He has great faith in the future of the Durham. While fully recognizing the merits of special purpose cattle and their advantage to specialists in the line, he firmly believes that for the general purpose farmer there is nothing to equal the Durham grade of good constitution and good milking strain. As far as his own observations extend he has never seen a successful herd that had not a trace of Durham blood. Then when cows or heifers go wrong, as they frequently will, or a farmer, from want of help or other cause, decides on changing his stock, no whynary is charged so readily put in marketable condition as Siorthorns or their grades. Besides, nothing is so common as to find good and food invested in an early maturing Shorthorn steer. It will scarcely be claimed that the average line of the Siorthorn breeds or the common Canadian cattle will more than pay for their keep.

Valuable Stock.

During his recent visit to Toronto Mr. J. C. Hanley, of Read, purchased a fine young bull of imported "Toffinity," the first prize bull at the Industrial Exhibition last September, and an excellent milker. His plan is to determine to keep his herd second to none, and be always in a position to supply the farmers in this section with the finest animals of the most useful and profitable kind. The Storm.

The weather during the past week was of a decidedly wintry cast. Sunday morning snow commenced to fall, and continued to do so very thickly all through the day, the wind being chiefly from the south-east. About 6:30 p.m. the wind turned to the north, and suddenly, without any warning, a fierce blizzard, similar to the genuine Manitoba article, commenced to rage. The streets were filled with drifting snow, which rendered objects invisible even only a few yards off. The gale raged all through the night, the temperature at once fell to a low point, falling, until on Monday morning it reached ten degrees below zero. A brisk breeze prevailed all day Monday and Tuesday. As a result the light snow which fell on Sunday was whirled into great drifts in all directions and roads were blocked in all parts. The railways had to stop running, and many freight trains on the Grand Trunk found it impossible to proceed, while the Midland, Kingston and Pembroke, and several other lines had to stop running. The various stage lines through the country were demoralized for several days, and ordinary travel was almost at a standstill. Roads running east and west were almost impassable, the fences with firmly packed snow, and travelers who were on journeys have exciting episodes to recount the various roads have been so covered with snow that all directions are reported very heavy. The storm was one of the worst known during the past thirty years.

Williams v. Rathbun Co.—Masten for the plaintiff, moved for an injunction to restrain the defendants from trespassing upon lot 12, in the first concession of the township of Kennebec, of which plaintiff is patentee from the crown. The defendants are patentees of their license covering the lot in question, on which, however, there is little or no timber, the lot having been lumbered over, and being largely used as pasture land. The defendants, in fact, do not pretend to be going upon the land to cut timber, but only for the purpose of hauling logs from one lot to a lake in the neighborhood. Walter Cassels, Q. C., for the defendants, contends, Motion dismissed with costs, no irreparable injury being shown to be imminent.
